Forecast For The United Kingdom
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Saturday 13 Mar 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Cold, blustery and showery today.

Today:
Early rain and hill snow over parts of northern England and Scotland clearing away eastwards this morning. Otherwise, another blustery day with a mixture of sunny spells and showers, heavy at times with hail in some places. Feeling quite cold.

Tonight:
Early evening showers will gradually become confined to parts of northern, western and central UK and clear spells will develop. Another chilly night with a touch of frost for some.

Sunday:
Sunny spells at first. Cloud and outbreaks of rain will soon reach northwestern UK before spreading into other areas later. Southern UK staying dry for much of the day. Breezy.

Outlook for Monday to Wednesday:
Changeable with rain or showers for many, indispersed with sunny spells. Becoming increasingly settled by Wednesday. Winds easing, becoming mild in the west and north. Staying cold in the southeast.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.